

Despite my position as a pre-Islamic scholar concentrating on Baalqis (10th C b.c. queen of Saba), I was not invited to the excavation of the site of her palace near Ma'rib, Yemen. Determined, I drove there on my own. I eventually gained acceptance as 'official' storyteller to the workers. Forced from Yemen by the war, I've established the Centre for Baalqisian Theory in London, Canada. An archeologist from the dig sent me this photograph.
